

DNA for ECRs

Doitsu-Nihon Academy for Early Career Researchers

powered by DAAD, Kyoto University and Tokyo University

Plan your career

Improve your skills

Build your network

① (Self-)Presentation in Academia
May 22nd, 2021 (with Kyoto University)
16:00-20:00 JST / 9:00-13:00 CEST

OR

May 29th, 2021 (with Tokyo University)
16:00-20:00 JST / 9:00-13:00 CEST

German-Japanese Networking

Participants will include DAAD scholarship holders and alumni as well as ECRs from top Japanese universities (mainly MA and PhD students).

Each workshop will end with a social hangout from 21:00-22:00 JST / 14:00-15:00 CEST to get to know the other participants. Discord will be provided as a platform to communicate before and after the event.

② Networking & Collaboration in Global Science

June 25th - 26th, 2021 (with Kyoto University and Tokyo University)
16:00-20:00 JST / 9:00-13:00 CEST

*All workshops will be held online.

Language

English

Trainer: Dr. Iris Wieczorek

A German expert on academic career development and research management with nearly 30 years of experience in Japan.

Certificate of Participation

If you complete at least one workshop.

Registration Deadline

Monday, noon May 10th 2021 (JST)

Organizers

DAAD DESK

In cooperation with

IRIS INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
IN SCIENCE

DNA for ECRs

Workshop contents created by IRIS Science Management Inc.

(Self-)Presentation in Academia

May 22nd, 2021 (with Kyoto University)

16:00-20:00 JST / 9:00-13:00 CEST

May 29th, 2021 (with Tokyo University)

16:00-20:00 JST / 9:00-13:00 CEST

(content of both sessions is identical)

Your hard work is essential for your success. But your ability to express and present yourself is just as crucial. Especially as an early career researcher your academic success depends to a great extent on your (self)presentation abilities.

Through this workshop, you will learn and practice how to present yourself and your research in a convincing but also authentic way.

Practical Part:

- Analyzing one`s (self-) presentation style

Agenda

- Presentations matter!
- How to present (yourself) in a “perfect” way
- How to present (yourself) in virtual settings
- Overcoming fears and anxiety
- Everything under control?
- How to present in international settings
- Your Next Steps?!

Expected Commitment:

Participating in the first workshop (Presentation in Academia) on either May 22nd or May 29th is required in order to attend the second workshop (Networking & Collaboration in Global Science) from June 25th-26th. Seats in both workshops are limited. Depending on demand, not all participants of the first workshop will be able to participate in the second one. You will be contacted by Dr. Wieczorek in advance with some questions in order to prepare for the workshop. For the second workshop there will be some group work before and after the workshop. Students are expected to participate fully.

Networking & Collaboration in Global Science

June 25th - 26th, 2021 (with Kyoto University and Tokyo University)

16:00-20:00 JST / 9:00-13:00 CEST

16:00-20:00 JST / 9:00-13:00 CEST

Of all roles an early career researcher must play, perhaps the most important is being an expert networker. Additionally, in today`s era of “global science” it becomes increasingly important to collaborate internationally in order to be successful.

Through this workshop you will learn basic skills for effective networking as well as acquire skills for intercultural understanding and for managing international teams.

Practical Part:

- How is the era of “Global Science” changing your work (style)?

Agenda

- Global science today
- Building your global career network
- Your lands of promise?
- Getting involved in global research
- Collaborating virtually
- Tools & Resources
- Your Next Steps?!

Organizers

DAAD DESK

In cooperation with

IRIS INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS
IN SCIENCE