Part 4: Our Challenges

English Taught Courses

Our Challenges

- All the subjects which cater to Chinese students can be taken by international students as well, but the students' language level should meet the language requirements.
- We are now offering 30 to 40 English taught courses, which are quite limited to the needs.
- According to it, Nanjing University is now conducting an curriculum reform, which aims at providing more English taught courses on a diversity of areas for our international students.

To redesign of curriculum to take account of international participation.

Our Measures

- Encourage each school or department to offer English taught courses. Our target is to provide 100-200 international courses in 2-3 years;
- Establish a fund specially for the young scholars and faculty members who are equipped with international education background to offer English taught courses;
- Suggestion: The construction of English taught courses are linked with the teaching staff's performance evaluation.
